There will be three tryout days for all Little League youngsters to "strut their stuff" before a group of 24 team managers.

The tryout days are Saturday, April 7, 14 and 21. Boys should be at all tryouts so the managers can try them based on their abilities.

Each age group will have one hour to bat, field and show its playing ability. The time each Saturday will be the same and boys and their parents are asked to "check in" at least 20 minutes earlier to get their playing number from committee members.

The schedule:
Eight and 9 year olds, 9 a.m.; 10 year olds, 10 a.m.; 11 year olds, 11 a.m.; 12 year olds, noon; 13 year olds, 1 p.m.; 14 year olds, 2 p.m., and 15 year olds, 3 p.m.
All boys are to bring $1.50 with them to pay for insurance for the season, including tryouts. There will be no charge for uniforms or tee shirts and caps.

Lake McNeely To Get Special Fertilization

Lake McNeely, the 53-acre state-owned lake in Jefferson County, will receive its first fertilization treatment this summer, according to Bernard Carter, director of fisheries with the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

The project by fisheries biologists is an effort to increase the fish pondage per acre and the fisherman's catch in this impoundment. Eight applications of water fertilizer will be given the lake during last summer and continued studies will be taken before and after treatments to determine the success ratio of the program, which is part of a statewide project this summer that will include 12 lakes.

In other cases this program has been highly successful and it is believed that Lake McNeely will also profit from the fertilizer.

The product used will in no way contaminate the water or endanger other recreational activities, the department said.

Teen News

Christ Church Teen Club, 2122 Taylorsville Road, will sponsor a dance Saturday, April 7, from 7 until 11 p.m. Music will be furnished by The Eternals and dress will be casual. Admission will be 35 cents for members; 50 cents for non-members. All teenagers are invited.

Parents should take with them the child's birth certificate or some equivalent documentary evidence and statement of evidence of successful vaccination against smallpox by calling the school in the district where they live between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Thursday, April 12. If parents aren't sure of the names and addresses of the school their child should enter next fall, they can obtain information by calling their school office: Louisville city schools, ME 9084-4-3611; Catholic schools, JU 9181-4-4159; Jefferson County Schools, JU 9181-4-4151.

34 Acres Lie Idle In J-town As School Board Fails To Act

Editor's Note: New interest has recently been shown by a group of civic minded Jefferson-Town residents toward trying to influence the County School Board to build a new high school in Jefferson-Town. The committee, made up of ten prominent business men and civic leaders of the Jefferson-Town area, have written their views in the following article. An editorial noting this paper's stand on the subject will be found on page two.

The year 1948 was a year to remember for the community of Jefferson-Town. That year our high school was taken away. Since that time the community has suffered an irreparable loss. More than a high school went out of our town; a sense of our unity went with it. We citizens of Jefferson-Town have discovered that far more than educational values are removed when the only high school is taken away. There are financial, moral and spiritual values involved which no adequate estimate can determine nor the loss adequately explained.

A recent meeting with a member of the Jefferson County School Board reaffirmed that a "Peabody Report" (now thoroughly discredited) was responsible for its removal. This expert advice (procured at the cost of $4,500) suggested that four county high schools would fulfill the entire need for the foreseeable future. How far this report "misses the boat" may be seen from the following figures here reproduced from the February, 1962, issue of Your Jefferson County Schools.

Population Gains
"Over the period in question, the population of Jefferson County has leaped from 106,900 to 220,305. School membership increased from 13,167 to 47,374. This increase necessitated the building of 33 new schools in the period from 1950-1959. Five new buildings were erected in 1960-1961. The only indication that our own community is experiencing a similar growth in school and neighborhood population was the board action to remove Jefferson-Town's only high school. It is increasingly obvious that despite the fact that the County School Board has purchased 34 acres of ground for the avowed purpose of building a new junior high school, either something has gone away with this plan or the present policy might well leave us without a junior or senior high school ANY-TIME in the future!

"Certain advantages accrue to the community blessed with a high school. These advantages will loom even more important when our schools are integrated. At present our elementary school children graduate and travel by bus to high schools entirely outside our community frame of reference. A community high school or even a junior high school, performs the priceless task of welding diverse associations into a cohesive community spirit and commitment. This task . . . is presently fulfilled by no other community institutions.

Cultural Activities
"Further, there are cultural activities as well as educational that take place at this level which appeal to diverse groups, bringing them into a community experience that is meaningful as well as educational. There are dramatic undertakings, lectures, musical and athletic attractions which tend to develop a fresh and renewed sense of wholesome community solidarity, pride and responsibility.

"Based on the useful and beneficial activities which we once had, which our community so desperately needs, a renewed sense of wholesome introduced which grows increasingly serious with each passing year. (Continued on Page 6)

A High School Will Mean A Community Spirit

Our best wishes and wholehearted support go out to the ten-man committee of earnest Jeffersontown citizens who are once again trying to persuade the County Board of Education to build a high school in Jeffersontown. And, probably every other citizen of this community is cheering for them too.

But it will be a tough, uphill battle all the way to persuade the board to build the high school, and the committeemen know it. So far, during the student explosion on our county schools, the board has seen fit to build high schools in a ring around us.

The reason why they did this, it seems obvious, was the result of the ridiculous Peabody report, which has now been termed obsolete, but at the time it was written, was swallowed hook, line and sinker by every member that has sat on the board.

We feel that in the items pointed out in the story on page one of this issue, written and signed after careful investigation by the ten-man committee, points to one important benefit that is often overlooked by communities having high schools: A high school brings a sense of unity and civic pride to that community.

Our town is badly in need of something to bring that spirit of belonging. We need something to be able to point to and say "that is ours, and we're proud of it." We need something to be able to point to and say "we did this as a community—as a unit." And a high school here will do this for Jeffersontown.

Of course there are the other important reasons for having a high school in a small town such as Jeffersontown, which may be termed "the usual," but should not be overlooked: convenience for our children, better, closer learning facilities to give our children better education, and providing the impetus to interest PARENTS in their children's education.

We have a spirited, intelligent group of men on the committee to bring a high school into Jeffersontown. Since the board of education already owns the property, we trust they will see the reasoning for the request and say "yes."

GRIST and GRIT

By Clin Miller

The growing hopes of many during nearly two weeks when Castro hadn't been seen in public were dashed when he showed up at a ball game.

A widespread impression gained from recent press pictures of Liz Taylor as she will appear in a movie as Cleopatra is that she is more Cleopatra-que than Cleopatra was.

If over exposure to publicity will weaken the extreme rightist movement, it will soon have lost all its thrust and become immobilized.

Old Sorehead is picking up space lingo. "It's the rarest sort of thing that I feel good," he said, "just about all the time I feel yay."

The ultimate in optimism: The Small Business administration has announced the issuance of a bulletin entitled, "How to Manage Women."

Far tougher than any metal in the capsule were Col. Glenn's nerves of steel.

Life would be far more enjoyable if a person didn't have to think about the way he would get through it.

An English woman says if there are rats in your house, they will leave if you politely ask them to do so. This will also work with overstaying guests, if you aren't overly polite.

Monica didn't know the song, "Fanny," became popular with some months ago. She asked if it were written about the Twists.

"March is National Butter milk Bread Month." It seems to us that bread made of buttermilk would be rather loose.

It seems many people are worrying more about violence being portrayed on television and in the movies than by violence being committed in real life.

One slot machine you can gamble on without breaking copiously.

JESUS' HOME IN BETHANY

Bethany was just over Olivet's summit, all alone but resting among its peaceful uplands. Jerusalem was near, so it was not wholly out side the busy world, only beyond it. The beautiful homestead of Mary, Martha, and Lazarus once stood where you now see these ruins. Not anywhere in all probability did Jesus pass more restful and happy hours than in the quiet home of that little family. Jesus made his home here in Bethany when he was in Judea. He seemed to prefer to lodge there than in Jerusalem. Inside the narrow and crowded streets of the larger city there was a continual hub-dub of noise. The vender's cart, heaped and hanging with countless wares, and the donkey with his over-capacity and spacious, bulky pack of supply merchandise filling the limited street passage caused the people to scramble for lee-way. Do we wonder that the call of the peace and quiet of the home of friends pressed at the close of a busy day?

The Bethany village today is a very poor and untidy, tumble-down place. The remaining trees still growing among the ruins, such as the fig, olive, and almond helps to create an imaginative mind about the pleasant atmosphere that once permeated the environs here.

Local tradition points to the buildings in our scene as the home of the two sisters and their brother. Apparently this family had considerable wealth and their home was one of dignity and easy circumstances, befitting honorable guests. It had a special charm for our Lord because of the friends he found there. The love and reverence they had for him not only made the home his own but he was its head.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

THE SHAPE OF YOUR HAND

One morning a mother fixed her young son a lunch of five loaves and two fish and sent him to hear Jesus preach. The boy found a great crowd listening to Jesus. He sat down to watch and to listen. He was so interested that he forgot to eat his lunch.

That evening he saw the disciples around Jesus. Edging over nearer them, he heard Jesus tell His disciples to give the people something to eat.

Suddenly, a man knelt down and put his hand on the little boy's shoulder. The man was one of Jesus' disciples, Andrew. "Son, what do you have in your hand?"

"My lunch," the boy replied. The lad was holding his lunch in his hand. It fitted his hand exactly.

Andrew said, "Son, all these people are hungry. The Master wants your lunch to feed these people. Do you believe that He can feed this whole crowd with your small lunch?"

The little boy had great faith. He looked up at Andrew and said, "Yes, Sir, Jesus can do it! I know He can!"

And Jesus did it! Nobody knows how, but He did. What a story the little fellow had to tell his mother when he got home.

The size of the little boy's hand was the perfect size to hold five loaves and two fish. While he held these five small loaves and two fish in his hand, they were the perfect size to satisfy his hunger. But when he put the lunch in the hands of Jesus, it was big enough to feed five thousand people.

And this is why you can have hope of accomplishing something beyond the ordinary. The secret is in Jesus' multiplying your life, your faith, your efforts and your vision.

There are millions of people in the world today. Every single one of them has an individual and distinctive set of fingerprints and has differently shaped hands. If God made your hands and fingerprints different, then you may be sure you are something special. He breathed into your nostrils the breath of life, and you became a living soul. You are raised up of God.

The shape of your hand is the shape of God's plan for you. Man is God's instrument. God's plan is carried out by those who love and serve Him. He has an exact and perfect plan for your life.

SILENCE IS GOLDEN...

A gold colored object which is "silent" carries no mark denoting its karat content such as 14K or 10K or even 1/20th 12K gold (which identifies rolled gold plate) and is most often NOT GOLD AT ALL. So it is wise that you should not consider ANY gold-colored object to contain any gold at all unless stamped accordingly. But diamonds cannot be stamped as to their quality. But we can determine their worth just as surely as stamped gold. How? By choosing a jeweler of golden reputation; one who bears the karat mark of integrity and who has earned the confidence of the community. We believe we fit that description. CROPLAND ADJUSTMENT OFFERS AN IMPROVED FARM SITUATION

By Larry May

For the past several years the government has been holding land through the conservation reserve of the soil bank at an average of $11.85 per acre. Nearly all of this land was being used for crop production before farmers put it in the soil bank.

At the end of 1960, when the authority to sign contracts ended, farmers had placed nearly 59 million acres in the soil bank. Those contracts will begin to expire in volume this year and some will terminate each year until the last one expires in 1969.

Twenty-nine million acres back into production with fertility increased is the picture which the contracts are extended. Farmers should be reviewed with the idea of extending those which will accomplish the best results at the smallest cost. We think that many farmers would be renewed at the rate which they are now receiving.

Authority Needed

To make the land retirement system sound and enable it to accomplish the job of controlling production, the Secretary of Agriculture should be given the authority to enter into new long term contracts with those farmers who want to sign one and the authority to make a bid that will compete with the price which other farmers are willing to take.

Under this system, some farmers would be willing to retire their whole farm. The best land as well as the poorest on each farm would go out of production. Because his entire farm would be signed up, there would be no reason for him to use more fertilizer, irrigate and so on to increase production and thereby offset the effects of a land retirement program. Improved practices would be left to those farmers who want to expand the size of their farm and take full advantage of modern farming methods to reduce their crop unit production costs.

Problems

The problem of the farmer is excessive productive capacity. If the farmer is to earn a higher income, production must be brought into line with demand. We think the crop-land adjustment plan offers those farmers who are near retirement some improved practices would be left to those farmers who want to expand the size of their farm and take full advantage of modern farming methods to reduce their crop unit production costs.

The $11.85 per acre average cost for land in the conservation reserve shows that a carefully planned long range land retirement program can do the job cheaper than an emergency feed grain program which cost over $28 per acre.

30,024 State Farmers OK Grain Program

After six weeks of sign-up, 30,024 farmers have signed intentions to divert 447,181 acres of corn and grain sorghum from production under the 1962 Feed Grain Program. Farmers have been paid $5.158,978.00 in advance payments according to R. O. Wilson, chairman of the Kentucky State A.S.C. Committee. A number of county A.S.C. offices are reporting grain will have more sign-up for 1962 than they did during the 1961 Program. Wilson urged all farmers who have corn or grain sorghum history for 1959 or 1960 to immediately contact the local A.S.C. county office to secure details of the program and to consider filing an application. He stated that farmers who wait to file their applications until the last week may be standing in long lines as county offices are expecting very heavy activity during the last sign-up. The last day applications may be signed is March 30.

Spring Lawn Fertilization Is Beginner For Crabgrass Control

By H. C. BROWN, County Agricultural Agent

CRABGRASS CONTROL STARTS NOW — The SPRING LAWN FERTILIZATION Program of crabgrass, a common lawn pest, starts now with an early spring fertilization.

This early spring fertilization will stimulate growth of desirable lawn grasses. These plants will shade out the crabgrass seedlings and kill them as crabgrass does NOT grow well when shaded.

Another control system is the pre-emergence one in which uses a chemical that kills the crabgrass seed as they germinate. (Crabgrass comes back each year from seed lying in the ground.) Most of the recommended materials come in dry granular form that can be applied with fertilizer spreaders. Others are wettable powders or emulsion concentrates which can be mixed with water and used as sprays.

Commercial preparations that contain as active ingredients the actual killer material such as Dacthal, Nalodan, or calcium arsenate are readily available. These should NOT be used in a newly seeded lawn, but on established turf. They will kill the crabgrass seeds in the lawn.

Trifluralin is a new material which will be available this year. There is still an argument, Bandana, which can go on either newly seeded area or established turf. Home owners should check labels for the active ingredient and follow directions closely. It is emphasized that too little material will not give control and that too much material may damage a part of the lawn.

Crime and punishment grow out of one stem. Punishment is a fruit that, unexpected, ripens within the flower of the pleasure that concealed it. — Ralph Waldo Emerson.

BEEF HERD TOTAL PROPERTIES KEYED TO CALF CROP WEANING WEIGHTS: Best herd management has a distinct bearing on profits of the herd.

One prime factor is the percentage of the calf crop (how many cows actually drop calves). If the average weaning weight of calves is 550 pounds, at least 75 per cent of the cows must produce calves for the herd to be profitable. If the calves are weaned at 500, there must be an 80 per cent calf crop. Remember: The larger the calf at weaning time, the lower the number of pounds on that calf (a sale time) which must be used to pay for cost of production. Chief reason for a low-percentage calf crop: Lack of attention at calving time, crowding of calves, and poor overall management.

HOME-GARDEN MULCHES WORK: Mulches for home gardens have been used for many years. Now they are plastic and paper mulches which also are useful.

Here are some things to remember about mulches this "garden season." Mulches help to prevent moisture loss, soil erosion, weed growth, dirty produce, and high cultivation costs. Materials available include clear and black plastic paper, straw, hay, sawdust, wood chips, chopped corn cobs, grass clippings and peat moss. These materials can be applied in May and June except plastic and paper; these are usually applied before planting or setting. These are punched through plastics and paper at planting time.

The advantage of plastic and paper over other materials is that they create more favorable growing areas in root zones and prevent leaching of nutrients. But paper and plastic are usually more expensive than other materials, take time and labor to place and should be removed from the soil in the fall. Organic mulches can be plowed or disked under. Additional nitrogen fertilizer should be added to sawdust, straw, wood chips and corn cobs mulches, as these materials remove nitrogen from the soil as they decompose. 2 to 3 pounds of 5-10-5 or 5-10-10 fertilizer per 100 square feet is recommended. A half pound of either nitrate of soda or ammonium sulfate per 100 square feet, or a quarter pound of ammonium nitrate per 100 square feet, also works well.

New Watterson Golf Club Expects To Have Spring Opening Date

MASSIVE PRE-FORMED concrete slabs were hoisted into place last week as construction began on the new Watterson Golf Club, located on Seatonville Road. Workers shown here are laying the floor for the ultra-modern club house. Four swimming pools are planned for the club when it is completed.

Despite inclement weather, work on the $250,000 club house of the Watterson Country Club is progressing according to schedule. Occupancy of the first floor by the Watterson Press Club is expected late in March, according to John R. Clowes, secretary.

The Watterson Press Club, which has leased approximately 7,000 square feet, will be catered by the same kitchen serving the Watterson Country Club. The press club area will include a library, lounge with AP news ticker, large glass enclosed dining room overlooking the golf course, men's bar and billiard room.

Members of the Watterson Press Club will be permitted guest privileges for swimming and golf on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Associate members, from the various professions other than the field of journalism, are expected to push the membership over 1,000. Membership in the Watterson Press Club is reciprocal with Press Clubs in this country and abroad.
